The Royal Hospital for Neuro-disability is a non-profit, medical charity, a hospital and home, based in Putney, south west London. We provide both short and long-term specialist services (assessment, rehabilitation and disability management) for adults with profound or complex disabilities resulting from damage to the brain or nervous system, in our Brain Injury Services, Specialist Services and Specialist Nursing Home. Through these services, we seek to enable people with profound neuro-disability to enjoy an optimal quality of life

Our Specialist Services Unit currently has a number of exciting opportunities available for suitably qualified and experienced equivalent Band 5 and 6 nurses. Our nurses are an integral part of our specialist interdisciplinary teams, working with patients with Huntington's Disease, who are ventilated or have challenging behaviour. Our nurses support their care so that they are able to reach their best possible potential and enjoy the optimum quality of life, whatever their level of ability. You will be responsible for undertaking and managing direct patient care and contributing to the assessment, planning, implementing and evaluation of patient care, and, in conjunction with the interdisciplinary team, ensure that agreed treatment programmes are implemented.

To be considered for these roles you will be a registered general nurse ideally with post-registration experience in specialist nursing or patients with complex care needs.

The successful candidates must be able to demonstrate their commitment to high quality standards, evidence-based practice and interdisciplinary working. It is essential that you have good organisational and communication skills and have a naturally emphatic and compassionate approach with patients and their families.

In return, we offer the opportunity to work at a sector leading organisation with a 160 year history of providing, care and developing services for individuals with complex disabilities. We are highly committed to CPD, staff development and you will have opportunities to be involved in research and expansion of your knowledge in a specialist setting. In addition, we offer a good work-life balance, an optional private health-care scheme (salary sacrifice), access to a number of health & well-being services including physiotherapy, counselling, on-site yoga, free on-site parking, on-site accommodation, a subsidised staff restaurant, café and coffee shop, a professional library, childcare voucher scheme, free eyesight tests, and a generous staff pension scheme.
